Commission as well as Government regarding the debarring of NT graduates and MBBS graduates from appearing in the Civil Services Examination. The Committee is of the view that a very high number of IIT graduates and MBBS graduates were getting selected to All India Civil Services and when such a student joins the Central Civil Services, all the money spent on him goes down the drain. By joining Civil Services many seat are blocked by them thus preventing as many students from becoming Engineers and Doctors.

The present scheme of the Civil Services Examination, is based on the recommendations of an Expert Committee knowns as Kothari, Committee, appointed by the Union Public Service Commission in 1974. That Committee was of the view that in a world of rapid change it is a definite advantage-even a necessity-that the services have persons drawn from a wide spectrum of academic subjects and back-ground. The question of allowing Doctors and Engineers for taking up the Civil Services Examination was also examined by another expert Committee, known as Prof. Satish Chandra Committee, appointed by the Union Public Service Commission in 1988 to review the scheme of the examination, which permits Doctors and Engineers to compete for it. Moreover, it has been constant endeavour of the Government to recruit the best available talent.
